Macomb County Prosecutor's Office Domestic Violence Unit Chief Will Give Free Presentation Tonight at Haven Place in New Haven

Tonight at 7:00 pm, Macomb County Prosecutor's Office Domestic Violence Unit Chief Victoria Policicchio will be giving a free presentation as part of a seminar on Domestic Violence at Haven Place located at 58575 Main St, New Haven, MI 48048. This seminar is hosted by Living Word Fellowship Church.

The Macomb County Prosecutor's Office is taking a proactive approach to address domestic violence in conjunction with Domestic Violence Awareness Month. Free handouts and presentations provided by the Macomb County Prosecutor's Office include important information. These free presentations cover domestic violence, the cycle of violence, how to report abuse, consequences of domestic violence charges, and available domestic violence resources. The Macomb County Prosecutor's Office seeks to equip individuals with the knowledge and tools to understand the consequences of violence and protect them from toxic and controlling relationships that lead to a cycle that is difficult to break. They can become more aware of the risks of certain behaviors and avoid them.

"The Macomb County Prosecutor's Office stands united against domestic violence. Through education and awareness, we empower individuals to break the cycle of aggression. Tonight's seminar is a testament to our proactive approach, reinforcing that knowledge is not just power—it's a catalyst for change. Together, let us build a future free from violence," said Macomb County Prosecutor Peter J. Lucido.
