Macomb Court Web Pages get Remodeled

Today, the Macomb County Circuit Court, Probate Court, and District Court web pages received a design update using the County's new web content management tool.

The web page addresses have been updated using the county's new domain address. The following are the new links:

<http://circuitcourt.macombgov.org>

<http://probatecourt.macombgov.org>

<http://districtcourt.macombgov.org>

The update brings a unified structure and appearance across all of the courts' web pages. "The legal community relies on our web pages for immediate access to Court information", said Judge John Foster, Chief Judge of the 16th Judicial Circuit Court, Macomb Probate Court, and 42 District Courts. "This is a necessary step towards improving the appearance and navigation of our Court's online content." All web pages managed throughout the County are being redesigned and converted. The old court links will remain active and will redirect users to the new addresses for now, but users are advised to update their browser bookmarks.

The Macomb Information Technology Department developed the entire platform in-house taking advantage of a free, open-source software called Drupal. Drupal is browser-based and easy to use allowing the courts to quickly add or change content without having to master Hyper Text Markup Language (HTML).
