MSU Extension offers ServSafe® Certification class

MSU Extension is offering a 16-hour ServSafe® certification training to cover the updated changes to the 2013 FDA Food Code, as well as purchasing and receiving from approved services, storage, preventing food borne illnesses, employee personal hygiene and Hazard Analysis Critical Control Point (HACCP). The ServSafe® program was developed by the National Restaurant Association to provide food and beverage safety certification.

The two-part training will take place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Mondays, May 1 and 8 at MSU Extension, 21885 Dunham Road (entrance E), Clinton Township, 48036. Attendees must go to both classes. The course costs $145 which includes the review and test. The book is not included and must be ordered online at www.ServSafe.com. To register, visit <http://bit.ly/2oq0WSl>. For more information about the class, contact Chris Venema at (810) 668-0341.

Michigan State University Extension (MSUE) brings educational programs to residents, empowering them to improve their lives and community. County-based MSUE staff, in concert with on-campus faculty members, serves residents with programming focused on agriculture, natural resources, children, youth, families, community and economic development.
