Macomb County seeks hosts to celebrate Manufacturing Day

Macomb County is revving up for another successful Manufacturing Day (MFG Day) and is seeking area manufacturers to offer tours. Last year, the county held one of the largest MFG Day events in the country, and this year, it is going to be even bigger.

The Department of Planning and Economic Development is once again partnering with the Macomb Intermediate School District and 21 public districts to organize a countywide celebration of MFG Day on Friday, Oct. 2. They are in need of manufacturers to serve as hosts, allowing small groups of students to tour their facilities to see what a career in manufacturing is all about.

Two thousand students from all 28 Macomb County public high schools are expected to participate in this massive event. This is an excellent opportunity to expose the next generation of workers to the many interesting and well-paying careers the manufacturing industry has to offer.

MFG Day is a national campaign designed to create greater awareness about the importance of the manufacturing industry. Nowhere is it greater than right here in Macomb County.

To get involved, local manufacturers should contact Maria Zardis at maria.zardis@macombgov.org by Tuesday, Sept. 1 to become a host site. Sponsorship opportunities are also available. More information is available at MacombBusiness.com.
